Randolph Building, Mail Stop Amendment

Alexandria, VA 22314

Sir:

In the matter of the above-identified application, it has now been determined that inadvertent errors were made in the papers as filed on August 28, 2006.

First, the transmittal letter erroneously stated that Article 19 amendments had not been made. However, it is clear from the PCT publication of the application that Article 19 claims were part of the publication. Furthermore, a translation of the Article 19 amendment to the claims was filed, despite the indication in the transmittal letter that there were no amendments to the claims under Article 19. To correct this error, please take note that Article 19 amendments were filed in the international phase and that an English language translation thereof was filed with the filing papers on

In re of:

August 28, 2006. These are the claims that were intended for initial national stage examination.

The second error that has been noticed is that the translation of the claims as originally filed was an incorrect translation. Inadvertently, a translation that omitted the multiple dependencies of the originally filed claims was originally filed. Accordingly, please disregard the translation of the originally filed claims as filed on August 28, 2006, and substitute the attached accurate translation of the claims as originally filed in the international application. If it is deemed necessary to charge a fee for the late filing of the translation in light of this error, please charge such fee to deposit account number 02-4035 of the undersigned.

Submitted herewith is a preliminary amendment that amends the Article 19 claims originally submitted so as to eliminate multiple dependencies and reduce the filing fee.

Respectfully submitted,
